

Kratos Defense & Security Solutions to Exhibit At Space and Missile Defense Conference August 11-14, 2008

SAN DIEGO, Aug 8, 2008 (PrimeNewswire via COMTEX News Network) -- Kratos Defense & Security Solutions, Inc. (Nasdaq:KTOS), a leading national defense and security solutions provider, announced today that the company will be exhibiting at the 11th Annual Space and Missile Defense Conference (SMD) and Exhibition, taking place August 11-14, 2008 at the Von Braun Center in Huntsville, Alabama. At this event, Kratos will showcase a range of technology and product solutions to the U.S. Army Space and Missile Defense Command (SMDC), U.S. Army Aviation and Missile Life-Cycle Management Command (AMCOM), NASA, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (CoE), and the State of Alabama. Kratos will be highlighting its expertise in Weapon Systems Support, High Performance Simulation Center Support, Modeling & Simulation, and its ongoing support of the War Fighter.

The SMD Conference is widely attended by more than 6,000 professionals from throughout the United States and around the world. The theme for this year's event is Space and Missile Defense -- The Next 50 Years. Employees from Kratos' Huntsville-based Madison Research Division (MRD) will participate in the SMDC Simulation Center (SimCtr) exhibit celebrating 25 years of operation. The Madison Research Division of Kratos currently provides technical services, operations, maintenance, and program management to the SimCtr and has held this contract for the past twelve years.

Kratos will be exhibiting in booth 520 in the South Hall exhibit area.
