SAN DIEGO, May 5, 2011 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Kratos Defense & Security Solutions, Inc. (Nasdaq:KTOS), a leading National Security Solutions provider, today reported first quarter 2011 revenues of $122.8 million, up from first quarter 2010 revenues of $68.7 million, and Adjusted EBITDA of $12.6 million, or 10.3% of revenues, up year-over-year from $5.9 million, or 8.6% of revenues, from the first quarter of 2010. Kratos' Government Solutions business generated first quarter 2011 revenues of $97.4 million and an Adjusted EBITDA margin of 11.0%, and Kratos' Public Safety and Security business generated first quarter 2011 revenues of $25.4 million and an Adjusted EBITDA margin of 7.5%. Adjusted EBITDA reflects earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization, and excludes the loss from discontinued operations, income related to SWAP instruments, and acquisition related and stock compensation expenses. The first quarter results reflect the contributions from the companies acquired in 2010, as well as continued organic growth in Kratos' Public Safety and Security businesses.

Eric DeMarco, President and Chief Executive Officer, said, "We are particularly pleased with the first quarter's financial performance, especially in light of the delays in anticipated contract awards and delays in funding of many new programs resulting from the prolonged continuing resolution. With the just recently approved federal fiscal year 2011 budget, we are now starting to see some of the contract opportunities that we had previously expected in the fourth quarter of 2010 and the first quarter of 2011 be awarded, and funding on certain contracts starting to be received." Mr. DeMarco continued, "Additionally, we are also seeing significant new bookings, particularly in our products businesses, and we expect revenues to begin ramping up in Kratos' second quarter and accelerating into the second half of 2011. We are also extremely excited about the Herley acquisition, which was completed in the second quarter, and the established electronic attack and electronic warfare platforms on which Kratos now provides important product and technology offerings."

Kratos' contractual and operational highlights during the first quarter included:

- Kratos supported a critical Aegis Ballistic Missile Defense Test that was part of the Atlantic Trident 2011 in which the Company's Ballistic Missile Defense ("BMD") targets were used as part of the first live sea-based AEGIS BMD test on the East Coast.
- Kratos provided targets and related launch services for certain other successful Ballistic Missile Defense tests.
- Kratos' team was selected to continue Program Executive Office for Integrated Warfare Systems Support work, providing specialized support to a number of important Navy programs and initiatives, including ongoing combat systems deployment. The total potential value to the team, which is one base year, plus four option years, is $200 million.
- Kratos received new contracts totaling $23 million for unmanned systems, command and control and war fighter support related products from certain Department of Defense and National Security related customers.
- Kratos' team was awarded a multi-year contract to provide Command, Control, Communications, Computers, Intelligence, Surveillance and Reconnaissance (C4ISR) services for a National Security customer under an IDIQ contract pursuant to which the team can compete for task orders in excess of $750 million for installation, testing, evaluation and support of C4ISR-related equipment and systems.
- Kratos continued upgrade and sustainment work on a number of weapons systems and related platforms, including missile systems and rotary aircraft platforms.
- Kratos performed work or delivered critical products for or related to certain unmanned aerial vehicle platforms, intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance platforms and command and control systems.
- Kratos' Public Safety and Security Division received a multi-million dollar contract award to deploy mobile video surveillance and wireless infrastructure, including specialized day/night cameras, specialized listening devices and digital video recorders on a large Municipal Transit Authority transportation fleet.
- Kratos expanded the use of NeuralStar and dopplerVUE for Network Situational Awareness for an unnamed National Defense and Intelligence Agency within the Department of Defense.
- Kratos issued $285 million of additional Tack-on Notes for gross proceeds of $314 million, with an effective interest rate of 8.5%, net of an issuance premium of $20 million and accrued interest of $9 million.
- Kratos raised $61 million of net proceeds from the offering of its common stock at a purchase price of $13.25 per share.

resolved, we remain comfortable in reaffirming our 2011 annual guidance of $750 to $760 million in revenues and $102 to $105 million in EBITDA, on a Full Year Pro Forma basis, as if we had acquired Herley at the beginning of 2011, or $700 to $710 million in revenues and $91 to $94 million in EBITDA from the late March Herley acquisition closing date."

Management will discuss the financial results in a conference call beginning at 1:30 p.m. Pacific (4:30 p.m. Eastern) today. Certain of the information set forth herein, including adjusted EBITDA, excluding losses from discontinued operations, transaction and other acquisition costs, stock compensation expense and income from SWAP instruments, and the associated margin rates, are considered non-GAAP financial measures. Adjusted EBITDA as calculated by us may be calculated differently than EBITDA for other companies. We have provided Adjusted EBITDA because we believe it is a commonly used measure of financial performance in comparable companies and is provided to help investors evaluate companies on a consistent basis, as well as to enhance an understanding of our operating results. Adjusted EBITDA should not be construed as either an alternative to net income or as an indicator of our operating performance or an alternative to cash flows as a measure of liquidity.
