Item 2.06 Material Impairments

On February 12, 2009, Kratos Defense & Security Solutions, Inc. (the "Company") announced the divestiture and exit from three of the Company's acquired businesses that are not core to the Company's stated strategy and that have been dilutive to the Company's profitability. The businesses to be divested or exited provide interactive video surveillance and information analysis products, digital broadcasting products and incident response management systems. These actions are being taken as part of the Company's ongoing integration efforts of recently acquired companies and cost reduction initiatives. These divestitures will slightly reduce the Company's revenues going forward, but will immediately increase profitability and cash flow.

The Company has recently completed the sale of one of these businesses, and expects the sale of the other two businesses to be completed by the end of March 2009. The total aggregate cash consideration the Company expects to receive for these businesses is approximately $0.5 million. These businesses have incurred estimated aggregate operating losses of approximately $1.4 million in 2008 since the date of the Company's acquisition of these businesses in June 2008. On February 10, 2009, the Company determined that it would be required to record an impairment charge of approximately $4 to $5 million, primarily resulting from the impairment of allocated goodwill and purchased intangible values to these acquired businesses, to reduce the current carrying value of these businesses to their estimated fair value based upon current indications of interest. The Company does not currently anticipate that the impairment charges will result in any material net future cash expenditures.

In accordance with SFAS No. 144, "Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long Lived Assets," these exited businesses will be treated as discontinued operations in the Company's financial statements for the fourth quarter and full year ended December 31, 2008. In addition, all comparative prior year presentations are required to be reclassified to reflect the discontinued operations. The Company does not expect the divestiture costs related to these discontinued operations to be material.

In addition, the Company is currently performing its annual goodwill impairment test under SFAS No. 142, "Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets," and currently anticipates that it is more likely than not that there will be an impairment of its carrying value of goodwill and purchased intangibles due to the recent equity markets turmoil and its related effects on the market capitalization of the Company. The expected goodwill impairment is similar to the impact being reported by other companies which had been acquisitive, prior to current reduced market valuations and general unfavorable economic conditions. The Company does not currently have an estimated range of impairment charge at this point as the valuation analysis has not yet been completed. Such a goodwill impairment charge would be non-cash in nature and will have no effect on the Company's expected future cash flows, EBITDA profitability or operational performance.

The Company expects to have the valuation analysis complete before it publishes financial results for the fourth quarter of 2008 and full year 2008, after the close of market on Monday, March 9, 2009. Management will discuss the financial results in a conference call beginning at 2:00 p.m. Pacific (5:00 p.m. Eastern).

SAN DIEGO, CA, February 12, 2009 – Kratos Defense & Security Solutions, Inc. (NASDAQ: KTOS), a leading national defense, IT and security solutions provider, today announced actions to improve profitability and cash flow by divesting and exiting three businesses that are either not core to Kratos' stated strategy and/or have been dilutive to the Company's profitability. The businesses to be divested and exited were part of Kratos' recent merger activity, and provide video surveillance and information analysis products, digital broadcasting products and incident response management systems. These actions are being taken as part of the Company's ongoing integration efforts of recently acquired companies and cost reduction initiatives.
